SURROGATE ORDERS JOINT ACCOUNT TURNED OVER TO ESTATE

Friedman & Ranzenhofer, P.C. successfully obtained summary judgment for a large estate involving the misuse of a power of attorney form. Our client, the executor of the estate, presented evidence that her siblings had wrongfully used their father's power of attorney to add rights of survivorship on two (2) bank accounts totaling over $200,000. Through extensive document discovery and depositions, Mike Ranzenhofer was able to uncover enough evidence so that the Erie County Surrogate ruled that the bank accounts must be turned over to the estate within ten (10) days. This decision represents an excellent victory for our client. It is also further demonstrates that all of the time that we spend sifting through documents and conducting depositions is well worth the effort. ■

Ranzenhofer's Personal Injury Recoveries

A testimonial from a personal injury client: "I'd like to express my deepest thank you to Mr. Ranzenhofer and his staff. I retained Mr. Ranzenhofer as a lawyer for a personal injury due to my daughter being on a cheerleading team. Before Mr. Ranzenhofer, no one would even consider the case. All I had heard, was the term- 'You assume the risk'. Mr. Ranzenhofer had listened to what I had to say, and agreed to take my case for my daughter. He was very courteous, and on top of everything. I was very much at ease to have him for a lawyer. Everything was explained to us every step of the way beginning to end. I felt like he gave us the personal attention we needed. His secretary, Kristin, was prompt in returning all calls and relaying messages to Mr. Ranzenhofer. I wish your firm much continuing success. And I would recommend your firm to anyone. It was a long road, but through it all, you had my daughter's best interest at heart. Again, My Deepest Thank You – Mrs. P."
